

2012/2013 Federal Tax Credits

What you need to know.

Signed into law in January 2013, the federal tax credit rewards homeowners who make high-efficiency improvements to their home, including replacement heating and cooling systems. The program allows homeowners to take up to a $500 total credit on their taxes during 2012 and 2013. The credit is limited by 10 percent of installed costs.

Here are the details:

- Qualifying product must be placed in service between January 1, 2012, and December 31, 2013.
- Qualifying product must be for taxpayer's principal residence.
- $500 is the maximum total amount that can be claimed for all products placed in service during 2012 and 2013.
- If a homeowner has taken more than $500 in 25c tax credits since January 1, 2005, they are ineligible for any further credits.
- Qualifying product must have a Manufacturer Certification Statement, a signed statement from the manufacturer certifying that the product or component qualifies for the tax credit. Tappan provides these Certifications on www.tappan.net. Taxpayers must keep a copy of the certification statement for their records, but do not have to submit a copy with their tax return.
- Homeowners should save their receipts.
